Living the Faith—In today's gospel, someone asked Jesus if only a few people will be saved, which is a question of how many people and who will be in heaven. Jesus didn't answer with a quantifiable number, but he said to "Strive to enter through the narrow gate, for many, I tell you, will attempt to enter but will not be strong enough." In essence, Jesus is indicating that we must make the effort to work with the grace of salvation that he gives. Saying you love Jesus, that you call him your Lord and Savior and identifying yourself as Christian are responses to God's grace, but one cannot say these things and not live the faith. Lip service to God and others is not the path to heaven. While no one can earn salvation or justify oneself before God, being a follower of Jesus calls for self-investment in the faith, an on-going conversion and being a presence in the world as one who helps to build the Kingdom. A Christian is one who loves God and neighbor and proceeds to act on that love. Your faith isn't passive. You can sit at the feet of Jesus and contemplate the faith, but it also means that your contemplation leads to action in how you live your life and serve God in the world.

From Seminarian and Parishioner Tyler

Raymond—As summer draws to a close and in anticipation of his return to seminary this week, I am grateful for this latest installment from Tyler about his journey to the priesthood. I invite your ongoing support of Tyler through your prayers and notes of encouragement. Here is his latest communiqué.

Hello everyone!

I'm coming to the end of the summer and am about to enter my second year of major seminary at Mundelein. I spent the summer in Dubuque living at the Cathedral, getting a better sense of what it is like to work in a parish (council meetings, parish staff, a few mentally disturbed visitors), starting my Clinical Pastoral Education by visiting home-bound parishioners and nursing facilities, learning Spanish and about Hispanic ministry in our diocese. It was an amazing summer. I learned so much about people, about my future as a priest, and my relationship with Jesus.

I think the number one thing I learned this summer was about my own weakness but willingness. Perhaps not so surprising to others as to myself, I get tired, bored, critical, lazy, and selfish, and yet Christ is always calling me to work harder, to give more, and to choose to love. When I was close to Jesus in prayer it was always easier to do what I was called to do, but when I choose to ignore him everything became harder, even impossible. This summer made it very clear to me that my formation (what we call the process of seminary, being formed into the priest God wants) is not firstly about growing stronger or smarter so that I can simply wring more out of myself or have the right answer, but learning to rely on Christ and His strength, wisdom, and love. Whatever I can do on my own is nothing compared to what Christ can do in me, and even hard and difficult work becomes joyful and life giving when you are co-worker with Christ.

I am excited to return to Mundelein and start classes again (although they say this is the hardest semester!), and more excited than ever for the moment three years from now when, God willing, I will be ordained a priest, to serve you and the Archdiocese of Dubuque. The last couple of weeks I've been able to be at St Joe's, and it is always a warm and welcoming home. Thank you for all of your prayers! If I could ask one thing of you, please invite a young man in your life (son, brother, nephew, friend, kid in Church) to consider that God may be calling him to the amazing vocation of Priesthood! If any of you are wondering about God calling you to the priesthood (which every Catholic male should consider at some point!) don't hesitate to contact me with any questions you may have about vocation, the process, seminary, good ways to discern God's call, or anything else!

God Bless!

Tyler Raymond

School Start Blessing

With the new academic year upon us, here's a blessing for parents and guardians to offer their children at the start of school. This applies to all levels of education from college to pre-school and can be prayed individually with your children or as a family.

Leader: In the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen. May the God of wisdom, knowledge, and grace be with you always.

All: And with your spirit.

Leader: We gather to ask God's blessing upon our children as they begin the new academic year. Studies are hard, but the reward is great. They lead to a knowledge of the world and of God. May God open our hearts and minds as we listen now to the word of God.

Reader: A reading from the Book of Sirach (6:32-37): If you wish, you can be taught. . . If you are willing to listen, you will learn; if you give heed, you will be wise... Be eager to hear every godly discourse; let no wise saying escape you. . . Reflect on [the Lord's] commandments. . . ; then he will enlighten your mind and the wisdom your desire he will grant.

Leader: Let us pray.

Lord our God, in your wisdom and love you surround us with the mysteries of the universe. You sent us your Son to teach us by word and example that wisdom comes from you alone. Send your Spirit upon our child[ren] to fill them with your wisdom and blessings. Grant that during this academic year they may study well and share what they have learned with others. Grant this through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Leader: (All make the Sign of the Cross while the leader says): May God teach us his ways and lead us to the joys of his kingdom now and forever. Amen.
